

QSR, Cafés & Restaurants

Digital displays help quick service restaurants, cafés and restaurants to acquire more diners, encourages them to order higher margin menu items, and return more frequently.

- Menus with prices and images showing typical dishes
- Display your latest offers, promotions and seasonal specials
- Use data feeds from back-office systems to automate the prices on your displays
- If you run out of a popular menu item it's easy to change the displays to keep customers informed
- Social media? Display live updates to your audience
- Easy scheduling to show breakfast, lunch and dinner menus at the correct time
- Interactive screens provide access to dietary, nutritional and allergy advice
- Manual entry of key information is also available and simple to use

Where can you use LiveSpace digital signage?

On the street

Attract people with eye-catching advertising and window displays

At the entrance

Help people feel welcome and signpost them to the things they want

LiveSpace makes your messages unmissable...

LiveSpace digital signage helps increase sales and keep people informed.

Respond to local opportunities

Localisation lets head office create and manage a list of promotions. Local managers are then free to choose the best offer for their local audience.

Zone your content

LiveSpace's grouping feature lets you zone your content. People in different areas of your buildings will see the right messages for them.

Exploit the power of live data

LiveSpace manages multiple data feeds and makes sure the offers you show match your customers' needs. Let your messages respond to changes in your data.
